

NSF GRFP REVIEWERS

WHY SERVE?

Help identify our nation's future science and engineering leaders

Obtain a professional development opportunity

Gain valuable perspective to share with faculty and students at your institution

WHO CAN SERVE?

- Individuals in US academe, government, industry, and non-profits with an advanced degree or equivalent work experience
- Faculty who conduct research and/or serve as research advisors

To receive the $200 stipend for review service, you must be eligible for payment and complete all service requirements

Register at www.NSFGRFPreviewers.org

Application Components

COMPREHENSIVE AND HOLISTIC REVIEW

Personal Information, Education, Work/Research Experience, Proposed Field of Study, Academic Honors, Publications

Graduate Research Statement (2 pages)

Personal, Relevant Background and Future Goals Statement (3 pages)

Transcripts

Two to three letters of reference

Responsibilities

Review 20+ Applicants

Intellectual Merit

COMPREHENSIVE & HOLISTIC APPROACH

Attend Virtual Training & Panels

Broader Impacts

SAMPLE TIMELINE

June-September

October

November

December

Early January

Registration

Invitations Sent

Live Virtual Training

Application Reviews

Live Virtual Panels

Reviewers must have demonstrated expertise in the field for which they are examining applications. Reviewers typically have an advanced degree or equivalent work experience within their discipline and/or advise undergraduate or graduate students.